A Scholarship of Opportunity

COME students at every university are "working their way through college."

Over fifty per cent of the students of New York University are working their way through. They are employed during the daytime and study for their degrees at night.

These thousands of men and women cannot give all their time to securing an education; they have to earn a livelihood first. When most other young people are seeking amusement after the day's work, they are wending their way toward New York University for an evening of hard classroom study. New York University is proud to have such students. New York City will be proud of them as citizens.

Certainly these ambitious students should be given every opportunity to make good in their uphill fight. They do not want financial scholarshipsthey pay their own tuition -yes, and stand in line to get in. All they ask is the opportunity to carry on their work. But New York University has not the facilities to offer all of them even this opportunity-she had to turn away hundreds last year.

That is one of many reasons why she is now conducting an endowment campaign-to provide more adequate facilities and equipment to take care of those who seek a college education and are willing to work their way through to get it. To contribute to this campaign is to establish a scholarship of opportunity.

New York University needs $6,450,000.
